

Memorial Rights Application

Valid until 31 March-2018

COTHIEMUIR HILL
ABERDEENSHIRE

1. For whom is the memorial being placed?

Name

2. The types of stones permitted

In keeping with the wild and natural character of the burial ground, memorial stones need to be rustic in shape and laid flat to the ground. Local field or river stones are ideal - one that you have sourced and collected yourself or which your craftsman has identified on which the name and dates of the deceased are cut. Square cut or polished stones are not to be placed.

The stone should be laid flat to the ground and no larger than 30cm x 30cm (12 inches square). Letter cutting can be undertaken by a family member, local stonemason or memorial mason. In keeping with the natural setting, no paint should be used in the letters.

The position for the stone will be measured out and flagged for you or your mason to set the stone in place.

Details of craftsmen who can engrave the names into the stones are listed here on the burial ground website <http://www.aberdeennaturalburials.co.uk/memorials.html>
